

UNISON

the union for you in the Environment
Agency

If you work for the Environment Agency you can get essential cover at work by joining UNISON – the UK's leading trade union.

UNISON is the leading union in the Environment Agency with strong membership in all parts of the organisation.

And where we have members we have union reps, who are always on hand to help you. So if you need advice and support at work, legal help, financial assistance, debt advice and support on workplace safety, UNISON has got it covered.

The UNISON helpline (0800 0 857857) is open until midnight and we also offer a range of exclusive member discounts that can save you and your family money.

Making a real difference

And by being such a strong presence in the Agency we make a real difference. UNISON negotiates with the Agency to secure the best possible pay deals for staff, including pay reform and incident response payments. We always consult our members on the deals we negotiate because their views are important to us.

We'll look after your pension. UNISON works hard to win the best deal on pensions for our members and our team of national experts delivers a superb service.

Our job is to protect your job. We know how important job security is and how worried staff are in the current climate of public sector cuts. We work to secure employment opportunities and avoid compulsory redundancy wherever possible. Equality matters to us –our track record in fighting discrimination is second to none. We represent our members who are the victims of discrimination and work with the Agency to introduce better working practices.

Securing the future

As the largest trade union in the Environment Agency, we know how important it is to build a secure environment for everyone - staff and public alike. That's why we constantly use our influence with the people that matter, including, regulators, politicians, consumer groups and environmental organisations.
